Dispute Resolution Leaders to Explore AI and Emerging Technologies at “The Hague Future Dispute Resolution” Forum

Join the AAA-ICDR® and ADR Peers on June 10 at the Peace Palace in The Hague, Netherlands, to engage with industry experts on the evolving impact of emerging technologies and regulations on dispute resolution in the public and private sectors.

NEW YORK (April 2, 2025)—The American Arbitration Association® \(AAA®\) and its international division, the International Centre for Dispute Resolution® \(ICDR®\), will convene leading voices in the field of alternative dispute resolution (ADR) for “The Hague Future Dispute Resolution” forum on June 10, 2025. From policy to democratizing dispute prevention, the program will explore all ADR methods aimed at better serving parties, particularly those in underserved markets and communities.

Held in collaboration with prominent international partners, including the International Institute for Conflict Prevention & Resolution, the International Council for Commercial Arbitration, the Dutch Arbitration Association, the International Mediation Institute, ArbTech, ODR.com, System.Legal and Wolters Kluwer, the event will gather global in-house counsel, government officials and other dispute resolution leaders, including firm sponsor and speakers from Skadden, Dentons and other leading law firms, to share insights on digital enhancements in arbitration, mediation and online dispute resolution (ODR).

“At our 2024 ‘Future Dispute Resolution’ conference at Stanford University, we discussed how ADR was ripe for tech innovation. That innovation is here,” said Bridget McCormack, president and CEO of the AAA-ICDR. “We are thrilled to convene the next chapter of our program in The Hague in collaboration with our ADR peers and ahead of the Dutch Arbitration Association’s Dutch Arbitration Day in Amsterdam.”

The Hague, home to the United International Court of Justice and the Permanent Court of Arbitration, will host the event at the Peace Palace. This full-day forum will feature global speakers discussing AI and ADR, including the opportunities, challenges and evolving regulations surrounding these technological advances.

The forum will open with a keynote address by Dr. Hab. Marcin Czepelak, Secretary-General of the Permanent Court of Arbitration.

Sessions include:

- “Unleashing AI or Restraining It? A Counterpoint for Practitioners”
- “Engineering Ethical AI: Advancing & Defending Procedural Integrity in International Dispute Resolution”
- “Wiping the Slate Clean: Re-Engineering Dispute Management to Drive Business Outcomes”
- “Contrast and Collaboration: The Dynamic Relationship Between International Mediation and Arbitration”
